by Tricialynn B. Morgan

Well, it was a long, shall we say endless summer but we made it! We're back to class, and anxious to start highlighting chapters in textbooks that we'll probably never study from anyway.

Last year was exciting, but like all newspapers we had our ups and downs too, just ask any returning student on campus. This year however, we at Lambda plan to make your newspaper an informative, entertaining and most interesting medium of communication.

Remember, Lambda is produced for and by the students of Laurentian and without you, the students, we'd really be in trouble.

Getting involved with your University newspaper can be a fun and rewarding experience. I urge all students interested in doing so to drop by our office located at G1 Student Street (use the outside door because they cut my office in half), or call us at 673 6548.

Lambda has been publishing since 1961 and is committed to serving the student body to the best of our ability. What we need from you is your input and involvement. It's a paper for you, so tell us what you want, or better yet submit what it is you would like to see in our hallowed pages. Our doors are (almost) always open, so contributing couldn't be easier. If you provide the fuel, we'll start the fire (and we'll report it too!). Get on the right wavelength..... read Lambda!

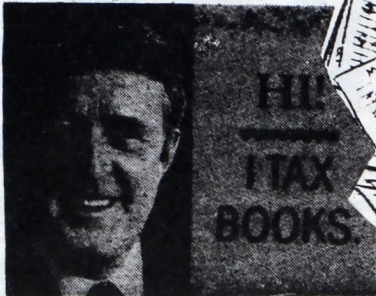

Production will be every Tuesday evening and staff meetings will take place Thursdays at 10 am with an open meeting to follow at 10:30 am, everyone is urged to attend.

The best of luck to all frosh and returning students, let's work together to make this one hell of a great year!

Welcome Back!

Laurentian University Health Services would like to welcome you to campus and introduce ourselves to you. We are located in Room G23 on Student's Street in the Single Student's Residence. Regular office hours are 9:00 am to 12 noon and 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm. A full-time physician and nurses are present on a daily basis. In separate facilities we can offer the services of a full-time athletic therapist and a part-time psychiatrist.

We offer a broad range of services to the students. We can provide some over-the-counter medications, provide counselling services. This is in addition to our more common medical services of looking after illnesses, athletic injuries and family planning problems.

We would like you to think of us a place to turn to when you are in need of emotional or physical assistance. If you would like to make an appointment with the physician or take advantage of any other services, you can give us a call at extension 1067 or you can simply drop in to see us.

We hope your upcoming year at Laurentian will not only be happy and productive but also safe and healthy.

SOME PEOPLE ARE BETTER EQUIPPED FOR COLLEGE THAN OTHERS.

Ever wonder why some people struggle through their four years while others seem to breeze through theirs? Is it brains? Perhaps. Good study habits? Maybe. A Smith Corona typewriter? Absolutely.

Smith Corona typewriters are packed with features that can help make writing term papers and reports academic. Features like our Spell-Right® Electronic Dictionary, WordEraser®, an editable memory, even our patented Right Ribbon System® feature, with our exclusive Correcting Cassette, for flawless, fumble-free correcting tape changes. All of which makes buying a Smith Corona typewriter the best course to take before taking your first course.

For more information on this product, write to Smith Corona Corporation, 65 Locust Avenue, New Canaan, CT 06840 or Smith Corona Canada, 440 Tapscott Road, Scarborough, Ontario, Canada M1B 1Y4.

JOBS JOBS JOBS

Welcome back for another busy year. Bon retour! There may be talk of a recession in the air but one doesn't feel in within our office walls and activity is buzzing and were handling employment at various levels.

For a brief outlook at what is happening, on campus recruiting is in full gear and employer deadlines are fast approaching. For those students graduating in 1991 get your resumes ready, deadlines for submitting them are already close.

The Public Service Commission (federal government) is planning on hiring between 500 - 600 new graduates this year and information packages are available in our offices.

For those interested in a career that resembles no other career, the Foreign Service, External Affairs and International Trade Canada will be sending a representative on campus on October 1st to answer your questions on what the Foreign Service is and how to prepare for this type of career.

For those of you who qualify for the Work Study Program, we have interesting job openings on campus.

Believe it or not we already have a few postings for jobs for summer 1991. It's never too early to start!

For those of you uncertain as to what career path to take, be sure to pencil in October 4th on your calendar. Aiesec Sudbury is hosting their annual Career Day in the bowling alley. We anticipate having around forty representatives from a variety of firms on hand to answer your questions in a very informal way.

On a regular basis we will submit articles with updates on employment opportunities. Until then, do not hesitate to come in, browse around, ask questions. The service is there for your benefit! Have a good week. Bonne semaine!

WOMEN UNITE

by Siobhan Kari

Unite against violence.
Unite for a stronger voice.

The Sudbury Sexual Assault Crisis Centre is hosting a Take Back the Night march on Friday 14 September in order to reach these and other goals.

Sudbury's Sexual Assault Crisis Centre was originally part of Telecare, the telephone emergency help hotline. When workers at Telecare discovered that victims of rape required more specialized attention, the Crisis Centre was formed on February 1, 1977. For the first few years the centre was run by independent volunteers. By the summer of 1982, the Sudbury Rape Crisis Centre was affiliated with the Ontario Coalition of Rape Crisis Centres.

A 24 hour crisis hotline (675-1323) for females and males is in operation at the centre and they now offer counselling in their office at 156 Durham Street, downtown. Office hours are 9am to 6pm, Monday to Friday. However a large component of the crisis centre is community awareness and education.

One of the centre's awareness programmes is the Take Back The Night march to protest violence towards women. The rally will begin at 7:30pm at the Sudbury Crisis Centre Office, 156 Durham Street. The protest march will begin at 8pm and there will be a luncheon following the march sponsored by Pat and Mario's Restaurant, LOEB's IGA Lasalle, and O'Tooles Lasalle. If you call ahead, babysitting services can be provided during the march.

Urged to attend are all women who want to put an end to violence.

THE BEST FROSH WEEK YET

Paddy Blenkinsop
Coordinator of Student Services

Welcome to all new students and welcome back to the entering upper years.

Another Frosh Week is over and you can begin to settle into the studying routine, and I can attack the mountain of paper that has accumulated on my desk over the past two weeks.

Frosh Week has never been better. I enjoyed myself, met a lot of people and, even if I have forgotten names, there are many familiar faces.

And that is what Frosh Week is all about, meeting new people. As we found in our Dons Training, what new students are most concerned about is whether they are going to find friends, and those people who took part in the Frosh activities seem to have done so.

The residence programmes have traditionally ensured that you meet others, and this year was no exception though we hope that no one felt unduly pressured. But this year there were activities for people living off-campus, and the LOCS organizers, Paul Hutchison, Chris Robson, and Simon Chapelle are to be congratulated for the success of their programme. Those living off-campus keep in touch.

The Peer Assistance desk by the Great Hall was in constant use throughout the week and, if Let's Talk was not so well attended as last year, those who did take part benefited by meeting others and asking their questions.

A.E.F. held its "Francosports" and a convivial and traditional "Epluchette," while the SGA events were a great success. Marc Veno tells me that the "Scuff'n'Buff" raised $3000.00 for Big Brothers; almost 300 turned out for Playfair and the President's BBQ and it was a record turnout for Endless Summer which was enjoyed by all including some of the neighbors adjacent to campus.

It was a good week and a good start to 1990-91, and I am happy to report that this year there were no serious unfortunate incidents to mar a most positive start to start to the new academic year.

Many thanks to all those who organized and assisted in the events, students, faculty, and staff, and best wishes to everybody for a successful and enjoyable year

Update on Project Peregrine - Sudbury 1990

A coalition of industry, government, academia and conservationists recently joined forces to re-introduce the peregrine falcon, an endangered species, to the Sudbury area. Project Peregrine - Sudbury is managed by the Ministry of Natural Resources, in association with Laurentian.

Eight falcons, purchased from the Canadian Wildlife Service, arrived on campus June 28. The remaining 7 peregrine falcons arrived on campus July 10 and were placed in two hack boxes on the roof of Married Students Residence. As with the first birds, the new chicks were fed quail until they were sufficiently mature for flight, and then were released on July 23. As of July 30, 14 of the birds were accounted for and actively flying.

Many of the birds leave campus in the early morning and do not return until early evening. Others spend the day flying from building to building on campus and commonly land on edges of the Parker Tower, to the delight of building occupants.

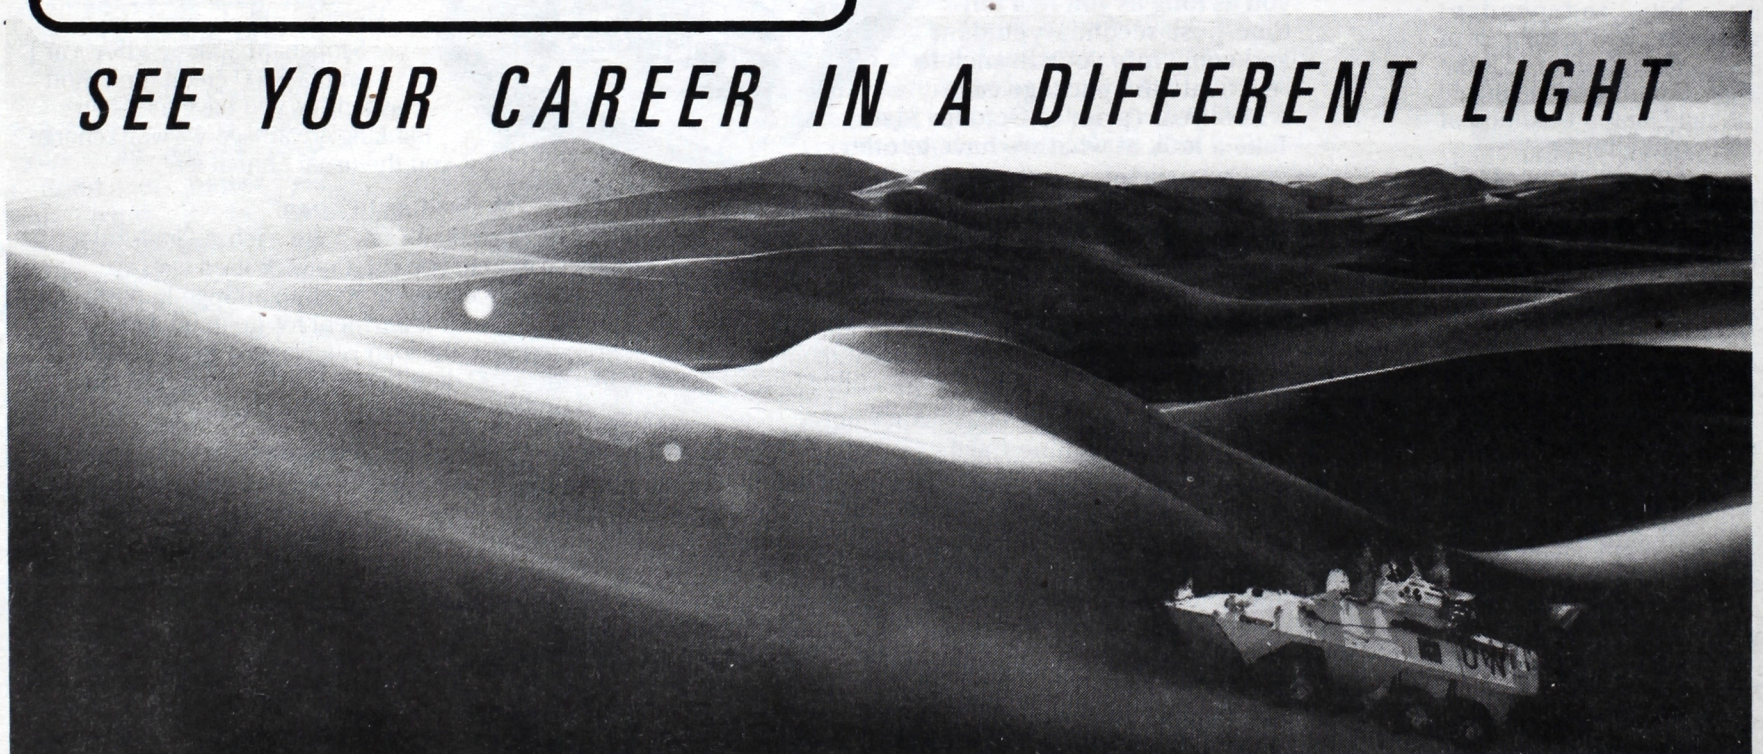

All aspects of the birds' behaviour are being recorded by biologist Paul Idle and will appear in a report to be completed by early fall. Of interest has been the interaction between the younger and older birds. On several occasions, older birds have been seen carrying quail to younger birds temporarily hesitant to fly from perching sites on other buildings.

Campus security guards, who have shown particular interest in monitoring the birds, have observed several taking water baths in the early morning in puddles. On July 29, one of the birds chased a pigeon into the glass entrance of the Fraser Auditorium. The pigeon was killed, but fortunately, the falcon was only stunned. A security guard was at the scene within minutes of the collision and observed the badly shaken falcon fly back to the Parker Tower. The pigeon was immediately taken by one of the resident campus foxes. The falcons have been observed chasing potential prey, but have yet to be observed making a kill.

LAURENTIAN SHOWS MATURITY AND GOOD CITIZENSHIP WHILE HELPING BIG BROTHERS

The Student's General Association of Laurentian University and Big Brothers of Sudbury are proud to announce that the First Annual Scuff n Buff raised almost $3000. Organizers hoped to raise at least $500 and even dreamt of $5000 but were ecstatic at the final tally. Congratulations to Sudbury, the media who supported us and to the frosh who show that as young adults the really do care.
